Election/Restriction

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked to form a single general invention concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Species A – A method including the special technical feature of having the hardness of a forging die material in the range of HRC 45 to 62.

Species B – A method including the special technical feature of applying cutting oil directly to a cutting tool.

Species C – A method including the special technical feature of rough cutting, heat treatment, finish cutting and profile cutting.

Species D – A method including the special technical feature of cutting a corner recess of a workpiece to have a compound curvature or a product including the special technical feature of a corner recess having a compound curvature.

Applicant is required, in reply to this Office action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species.

MPEP 809.02(a).

2. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species A - claim 2

Species B – claim 3

Species C – claim 4

Species D – claims 5 and 7

The following claims are generic: 1, 6 and 8.

3. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features as set forth above.

4. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR. 1.143).
